Cold In-place Recycling Climate Initiative Outreach Program

What is the Cold In-place Recycling Climate Initiative?

The Cold In-place Recycling (CIR) Climate Initiative Outreach Program was organized to showcase a proven road preservation process that greatly reduces greenhouse gas emissions over traditional construction and rehabilitation methods. A short workshop session provides an excellent opportunity for Bay Area local road officials to learn about the financial and environmental benefits of in-place recycling from national experts. This outreach program offers an occasion to witness an ongoing project in Napa to better understand the CIR process. It will provide a forum where local jurisdictions can discuss and learn how to replicate a climate initiative in their agency.

When and where will the outreach program be held?

The Outreach Program will be held on Thursday, October 13, 2011 with registration beginning at 8:30 a.m. and the program starting at 9:00 a.m. at the MTC Auditorium at the Metropolitan Transportation Commission, 101 Eighth Street, Oakland, California. At 11:30 a.m. chartered buses will carry attendees to Napa for a field demonstration of the CIR process. A box lunch will be provided to the attendees on the bus. Buses will return to the MTC by 4:00 p.m.

Who Should Attend?

Local Agency Administrators and Government Officials interested in sustainable cost-effective and long lasting alternatives to traditional methods. The workshop and field demonstration was specifically designed for Public Works Directors, City & County Elected Officials, and key staff involved with decision-making of maintenance strategies.

Site Visit?

A chartered bus will depart from the Metropolitan Transportation Commission at 11:30 a.m. and travel to the project site in the City of Napa. The field trip provides firsthand understanding of the flexibility, sustainability, and economy of in-place recycling. A limited on the number of people can visit the site, so please register early. Bring your own safety vest for the site visit.

How do I Register for the In-Place Recycling Conference?

Please register by contacting Marlene Demery at mdemery@cityofnapa.org or by telephone to the Public Works Department in Napa at (707) 257-9520. All registrations include travel by bus, refreshments and box lunches free of charge.
